

New York 15 March

Dear Devere.

I enclose a letter to your son Sarah - I believe you are acquainted with her. I know of her - was left by her in her
to our cheerer.
I don't see her
but I have thought
but that you
intended to visit
for them all
I am sure. -

but I think it is as well as I can manage.

I had quite gone out of my mind until the mentioned last night

I have only to say that you had better do nothing about it, keep the $100. for some future day when the children are grown up. —

My feelings aren't hurt in the least. —

Some time ago you
mentioned that you might require $200. —

in a variety of the only concern. I am always running to advance the money. I hope the Eggs & Turkey won't continue to arrive too on Simancas. I return Caroline's letter. but I Kearney has not read
it. Mrs. K. & I Hani is at Roxbury.
She will probably get laid up again. Sarah expects to leave by
on April. — The Children are all well.

Wary has lost his tooth & the others will lose them. They are all growing as Yankee as can be. I have the regret New York
I can't keep it. I only see them in town in the day. They are growing up & free in ignorance & likely to be of the remaining type of New York girls - the ones have sin they to be better. - Servant is a
